

YELLE AND LUSTIG RING
BATTLE THE STAR BOUT
FOR BOSTON FANS TONIGHT

YELLE BATTLES LUSTIG IN BIG BOUT TONIGHT

By RINGBIDE

There will not be any boxing show at the Atlas A. H. this week, as Alex McMann, the big middleweight, will not be in action. However, will not be without a local favorite sport, as most of the usual bouts will be made between well-known fighters.

Two fights will get underway this week. The Lakeland A. C. in Woburn will give the crowd a good show tonight when it gives a special bout between two local fighters, Yelle and Lustig. Yelle, a former champion, is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association.

The contest between Yelle and Lustig at Webster has attracted considerable attention. Yelle, a former champion, is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association.

During his career in the ring, Yelle has had but one decision rendered against him. That was in a fight with Ray Wood, which was held in New Bedford. That was in a fight with Ray Wood, which was held in New Bedford. That was in a fight with Ray Wood, which was held in New Bedford.

Lustig is the kind of boxer who is hard to upset. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association.

Boston boxing fans are picking strongly for Yelle. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association.

WOLGAST, however, will give Yelle a hard fight. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association.

WOLGAST was then a wonder in the boxing world. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association.

WOLGAST will probably be seen in action at the Atlas A. before the local boxing fans. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association.

The Atlas A. will resume business at its old stand a week from tomorrow night. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association.

It was originally planned to stage a bout between John Sullivan and Jack Britton. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association.

It was originally planned to stage a bout between John Sullivan and Jack Britton. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association.

It was originally planned to stage a bout between John Sullivan and Jack Britton. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association.

It was originally planned to stage a bout between John Sullivan and Jack Britton. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association.

It was originally planned to stage a bout between John Sullivan and Jack Britton. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association. He is a former champion of the Boston Athletic Association.

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTING NEWS

BIKE RIDERS GET AWAY ON THEIR LONG GRIND TODAY
AT BOSTON ARENA TRACK

Bringing Up Father

By George McManus

BIG GAMES END YALE MAKE-UP STILL

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 2.—With only the games remaining against Harvard, Princeton and Brown, the leading university rival, Yale's football schedule was left nearly played. The situation is still a bit tight, as the opening game of the season, a victory, almost irresistible, was a 10-0 win over the team.

Yale's football schedule was left nearly played. The situation is still a bit tight, as the opening game of the season, a victory, almost irresistible, was a 10-0 win over the team.

Yale's football schedule was left nearly played. The situation is still a bit tight, as the opening game of the season, a victory, almost irresistible, was a 10-0 win over the team.

Yale's football schedule was left nearly played. The situation is still a bit tight, as the opening game of the season, a victory, almost irresistible, was a 10-0 win over the team.

Yale's football schedule was left nearly played. The situation is still a bit tight, as the opening game of the season, a victory, almost irresistible, was a 10-0 win over the team.

Yale's football schedule was left nearly played. The situation is still a bit tight, as the opening game of the season, a victory, almost irresistible, was a 10-0 win over the team.

Yale's football schedule was left nearly played. The situation is still a bit tight, as the opening game of the season, a victory, almost irresistible, was a 10-0 win over the team.

Yale's football schedule was left nearly played. The situation is still a bit tight, as the opening game of the season, a victory, almost irresistible, was a 10-0 win over the team.

Yale's football schedule was left nearly played. The situation is still a bit tight, as the opening game of the season, a victory, almost irresistible, was a 10-0 win over the team.

Yale's football schedule was left nearly played. The situation is still a bit tight, as the opening game of the season, a victory, almost irresistible, was a 10-0 win over the team.

Yale's football schedule was left nearly played. The situation is still a bit tight, as the opening game of the season, a victory, almost irresistible, was a 10-0 win over the team.

DIKERS OPINION BASED ON CLASH TONIGHT

Two like fast comes into his own today with the opening of the six-day race at the Arena, when eleven men, representing as many teams, will be sent away on their long arid, marking the ninth annual of this international classic of the cycling world here.

The starting gun will be fired at 4 o'clock this afternoon and racing will continue until 2 p. m. the following morning. These hours will be observed each day, except Saturday, when an earlier hour will be arranged for the finish of the race.

Taken as a whole this year's race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators.

There is a new fact that makes the race more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators.

There is a new fact that makes the race more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators.

There is a new fact that makes the race more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators.

There is a new fact that makes the race more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators.

There is a new fact that makes the race more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators.

There is a new fact that makes the race more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators.

There is a new fact that makes the race more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators.

There is a new fact that makes the race more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators, as the race will be a bit more of a surprise to the spectators.

FOUR LEADERS IN CLASH TONIGHT

WITH the first matches over, the Amateur Boston Six League will be in the city at home, while the Cottage Park Yacht Club will go to Arlington to play its wares to the Boat Club.

Colonial and Cottage Park are tied for first place with class status. City is third, with three points won and one lost, while the Arlington quintet is tied with Dudley for fourth place.

The work of this organization on its first try on the league this season was of high class order. Every team hit the mark for better than 1,000, with the exception of the Arlington quintet, which was a bit off.

The work of this organization on its first try on the league this season was of high class order. Every team hit the mark for better than 1,000, with the exception of the Arlington quintet, which was a bit off.

The work of this organization on its first try on the league this season was of high class order. Every team hit the mark for better than 1,000, with the exception of the Arlington quintet, which was a bit off.

The work of this organization on its first try on the league this season was of high class order. Every team hit the mark for better than 1,000, with the exception of the Arlington quintet, which was a bit off.

The work of this organization on its first try on the league this season was of high class order. Every team hit the mark for better than 1,000, with the exception of the Arlington quintet, which was a bit off.

The work of this organization on its first try on the league this season was of high class order. Every team hit the mark for better than 1,000, with the exception of the Arlington quintet, which was a bit off.

The work of this organization on its first try on the league this season was of high class order. Every team hit the mark for better than 1,000, with the exception of the Arlington quintet, which was a bit off.

The work of this organization on its first try on the league this season was of high class order. Every team hit the mark for better than 1,000, with the exception of the Arlington quintet, which was a bit off.

The work of this organization on its first try on the league this season was of high class order. Every team hit the mark for better than 1,000, with the exception of the Arlington quintet, which was a bit off.

Only One Tiger Star Not in True Form

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 2.—Trainer Keene Fitzpatrick said today that practically all of the Princeton players were in prime condition to enter upon this week's preparation for the Harvard game.

In view of the fact that the Tiger showing against Williams was marred, it is expected that the coaches will work the squad very hard.

Nevertheless, quarterback, is the only man who is still suffering slightly from the effects of a cold.

Nevertheless, quarterback, is the only man who is still suffering slightly from the effects of a cold.

Nevertheless, quarterback, is the only man who is still suffering slightly from the effects of a cold.

Nevertheless, quarterback, is the only man who is still suffering slightly from the effects of a cold.

Nevertheless, quarterback, is the only man who is still suffering slightly from the effects of a cold.

Nevertheless, quarterback, is the only man who is still suffering slightly from the effects of a cold.

Nevertheless, quarterback, is the only man who is still suffering slightly from the effects of a cold.

Nevertheless, quarterback, is the only man who is still suffering slightly from the effects of a cold.

Nevertheless, quarterback, is the only man who is still suffering slightly from the effects of a cold.

Polo League Opens Season Tonight

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 2.—The Interstate Polo League has been reorganized. The league franchise was transferred to Waterbury and the Schenectady team was again transferred from Haverhill to New Britain. Other teams in the league are New Haven, Springfield, Worcester and Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

William Garret of the Worcester club was elected president and H. M. Pollock of New Britain, secretary-treasurer. The opening games will be played tonight.

William Garret of the Worcester club was elected president and H. M. Pollock of New Britain, secretary-treasurer. The opening games will be played tonight.

William Garret of the Worcester club was elected president and H. M. Pollock of New Britain, secretary-treasurer. The opening games will be played tonight.

William Garret of the Worcester club was elected president and H. M. Pollock of New Britain, secretary-treasurer. The opening games will be played tonight.

William Garret of the Worcester club was elected president and H. M. Pollock of New Britain, secretary-treasurer. The opening games will be played tonight.

William Garret of the Worcester club was elected president and H. M. Pollock of New Britain, secretary-treasurer. The opening games will be played tonight.

William Garret of the Worcester club was elected president and H. M. Pollock of New Britain, secretary-treasurer. The opening games will be played tonight.

William Garret of the Worcester club was elected president and H. M. Pollock of New Britain, secretary-treasurer. The opening games will be played tonight.

William Garret of the Worcester club was elected president and H. M. Pollock of New Britain, secretary-treasurer. The opening games will be played tonight.

William Garret of the Worcester club was elected president and H. M. Pollock of New Britain, secretary-treasurer. The opening games will be played tonight.

Police Baseball Banquet

The Massachusetts Police Baseball League will hold its annual banquet, complimentary to the Newton police, champions in Grand Army Hall, Chelsea, November 2.

The Massachusetts Police Baseball League will hold its annual banquet, complimentary to the Newton police, champions in Grand Army Hall, Chelsea, November 2.

The Massachusetts Police Baseball League will hold its annual banquet, complimentary to the Newton police, champions in Grand Army Hall, Chelsea, November 2.

The Massachusetts Police Baseball League will hold its annual banquet, complimentary to the Newton police, champions in Grand Army Hall, Chelsea, November 2.

The Massachusetts Police Baseball League will hold its annual banquet, complimentary to the Newton police, champions in Grand Army Hall, Chelsea, November 2.

The Massachusetts Police Baseball League will hold its annual banquet, complimentary to the Newton police, champions in Grand Army Hall, Chelsea, November 2.

The Massachusetts Police Baseball League will hold its annual banquet, complimentary to the Newton police, champions in Grand Army Hall, Chelsea, November 2.

The Massachusetts Police Baseball League will hold its annual banquet, complimentary to the Newton police, champions in Grand Army Hall, Chelsea, November 2.

The Massachusetts Police Baseball League will hold its annual banquet, complimentary to the Newton police, champions in Grand Army Hall, Chelsea, November 2.

The Massachusetts Police Baseball League will hold its annual banquet, complimentary to the Newton police, champions in Grand Army Hall, Chelsea, November 2.

The Massachusetts Police Baseball League will hold its annual banquet, complimentary to the Newton police, champions in Grand Army Hall, Chelsea, November 2.

Business Notice.
Try Norton's Eye Remedy for Red, Watery, Itchy and Irritated Eyes.
Norton's Eye Remedy is a sure cure for all eye troubles. It is a sure cure for all eye troubles. It is a sure cure for all eye troubles.

To the Independent Voter

An Appeal in Behalf of Governor Walsh

This editorial is not addressed to partisan Democrats. It is not addressed to partisan Republicans or to enthusiastic Progressives. These men have already made up their minds and are not now open to conviction on the political issues of the present campaign.

But there is a large class of our citizens who keep an open mind until Election day; who do not decide until, as the lawyers say, "all the evidence is in and the case has gone to the jury." These intelligent, independent citizens hold the balance of power and cast the deciding vote in our State. An appeal to the intelligence and patriotism of these citizens may be made even at the eleventh hour.

The AMERICAN begs the consideration by these independent citizens of a few observations concerning the issues of this campaign.

If you who read this editorial are an INDEPENDENT voter, is it not true that TO YOU the single issue of this campaign is the conduct of Governor Walsh in office this year? You will not vote for him or against him merely because he is a Democrat, for you are not a strict party man.

Is it not true, then, that to you the real question is whether Governor Walsh has been an honest and an efficient Governor?

We assume that you consider him an honest man and a gentleman. His most hostile and violent newspaper critic has admitted his high character and gentle manners.

Concerning his administration, have you heard any one PROVE anything bad, or charge any very serious mistakes against him?

As Governor, he was obliged to perform a thousand duties and his acts have been subjected to the scrutiny of a hundred hostile, partisan critics. Have they disclosed anything wrong or convinced you that he has made any serious mistakes?

In all human probability you do not agree with everything that he has done. But the twelve Disciples could not agree upon EVERYTHING. Variety in human opinion is as necessary in the life of a democratic republic as the law of compensation in nature. But have you differed from him on anything very serious, on anything fundamental?

You have read or heard the attacks upon him by the hostile speakers. Do they REALLY convince you that you ought to say to the Governor tomorrow: "I have tried you and found you wanting"? Do you think that the evidence requires you "to change his face and send him away"?

ON THE OTHER HAND CONSIDER WHAT HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED UNDER THE GOVERNOR.

First—In the menacing railroad situation, by the destruction of the railroad monopoly and the taking control of the Boston & Maine by five trustees of the Governor's own selection.

Second—FOR THE FARMERS, by the law which permits them to borrow money from the State to build silos and orchards, to drain and irrigate and improve their lands.

Third—FOR THE WORKINGMEN, by the law which increases the compensation which they will receive for injuries from one-half the average weekly wage to two-thirds the weekly wage, and increases the period during which this shall be paid to the injured workingmen from three hundred weeks to five hundred weeks. In case the workingman is killed the amount his widow and children will receive has been increased under Governor Walsh from three thousand to four thousand dollars.

Fourth—FOR THE WIDOW AND ORPHAN, by abolishing that cruel rule of the courts which required the dead father and husband, killed at his work by a railroad or some machine through somebody else's negligence, to prove from beyond the grave that he had not himself been careless.

Fifth—FOR THE INSANE, by the reorganization of the State department which cares for them and the great consequent improvement of their condition.

Sixth—FOR THE PUBLIC HEALTH, by the reorganization of the Board of Health and the selection of one of the greatest specialists and experts in the world on this vital public function, who will give HIS WHOLE time to the work in place of the sporadic, spare-time work of the old board.

Seventh—FOR EFFICIENCY AND ECONOMY, by the rigid pruning of public expenses, which has saved several hundred thousand dollars that the Republican auditor estimated that the State would be obliged to spend this year.

Eighth—FOR THE GENERAL PUBLIC, by bringing the water power corporations under the regulation of the State; by removing the restrictions upon the cities and towns in the establishment of their own gas and electric lighting plants, which everywhere give the people so much cheaper light when they own the plant themselves; by making the foreign corporations pay a fair share of taxes; by organizing a State department to deal with danger from fires.

CONSIDER WHAT HE HAS TRIED TO DO AND BEEN BALKED FROM DOING BY A REPUBLICAN LEGISLATURE, ELECTED BY A RIDICULOUS MINORITY OF OUR VOTERS THROUGH OUR SYSTEM OF GERRY-MANDED LEGISLATIVE DISTRICTS.

He urged a constitutional convention to make our constitution more in

"Hail! Hail! The GANG'S All Here!"

Charles Sumner Bird, the Progressive leader, is right when he says that this was the only heart cry of the Massachusetts Republican State Convention harmony with present day conditions; the Initiative and the Referendum; a further increase of the excise tax on foreign corporations like the Standard Oil and the Beef Trust; a comprehensive plan to make tax dodgers disclose their real wealth, of which FIVE BILLION DOLLARS is now escaping taxation in this State; the improvement of the Corrupt Practices act; a law to make the public service corporations pay for the expense of regulating them; a law to prevent the big insurance companies from combining in this State to destroy the little mutual insurance companies, whose activity in Massachusetts has given us THE LOWEST INSURANCE RATES IN THE WHOLE COUNTRY.

As an independent voter, we invite you to contrast Governor Walsh's record of promises fulfilled and the definite promises of further performance, secured by his faithful conduct of the past year, with the record of Mr. McCall in Congress, where he distinguished himself by his opposition to that great reform measure of Theodore Roosevelt that brought our railroads under effective control of the National Government, AND WHERE HE DEFENDED CANNON AND CANNONISM AND ALL ITS REeking STANDPATISM.

The generous American public permits a man to live down a bad past record if he WANTS to live it down and TRIES to do it. But when a man has such a record and offers no apology, acknowledges no error, makes no promise of better performance, but accepts a nomination at the hands of a convention of all the old, reactionary, dregs of the Republican party and stands on a platform not broad enough to support a single little reform, THEN HIS RECORD MUST COUNT AGAINST HIM AND TIME DOES NOT OBLITERATE IT, BUT BINDS IT INALIENABLY TO HIM AND COMPELS US TO JUDGE HIM BY IT.

If you want a faithful, able Governor, you must acknowledge these qualities in your public servants when you discover them. Governor Walsh said publicly the other day:

"THE GREAT INSPIRATION OF A PUBLIC SERVANT IS THE HOPE AND BELIEF THAT, IF HE HAS BEEN FAITHFUL AND EFFICIENT IN HIS PUBLIC SERVICE, THE PEOPLE WILL HEAR HIM WHEN HE RENDERS TO THEM AN ACCOUNT OF HIS STEWARDSHIP AND WILL APPRECIATE HIM."

Is he not right?

The Progressive Party Declaration for Public Ownership of the Boston & Maine Is in the Line of Inevitable Progress

One of the many great contributions to public opinion the Progressive party has made is contained in the declaration of its party platform, this year, in favor of the public ownership of the Boston & Maine Railroad. This position is taken by thoughtful and responsible men, of which the Progressive party is composed, and is in the line of inevitable progress.

Governor Walsh in his speech at Hyde Park on October 29 said concerning public ownership in Massachusetts:

"Tonight I propose to discuss an additional law passed, upon my recommendation, by the Legislature of 1914, which I think is one of the most important conquests of the year, because it goes a long way toward solving the question of public ownership. It plants a seed in this Commonwealth which in time to come will prove of inestimable value toward constructive government. It is a measure that I confidently believe that the voters of this State will approve of, and in discussing our record we point to this as one of the matters they should take into consideration before rendering their verdict."

"It must be apparent to even the ordinary man that as far as the government of large cities is concerned the tendency of the times is toward public ownership of public utilities, such as, for instance, public lighting. It may be a surprise to you to know that thirty-six cities and towns of Massachusetts are now engaged in public lighting."

"Public ownership is a spirit of co-operation on the part of the citizens which should not be foreign to our institutions. Many respects, however, our city governments, when compared with the enlightened cities of the old world, are somewhat primitive in their municipal affairs."

"Glasgow, Birmingham and Manchester, those splendid citadels of British democracy, which wrested so many concessions from royalty, prove in this generation that they are keeping true to their tradition by trusting their commoners to manage and control large quasi-public corporations. They have met with conspicuous success. These citizens, owing to the complicated machinery of government under which they live and the innate dislike on the part of their fellow-countrymen to make changes, have not been able to overcome. It was necessary to secure an act of Parliament, for instance, for an English city to take upon itself such new and untried enterprises."

Mr. Joseph Walker, the Progressive candidate for Governor, is naturally a conservative man. He has been the Speaker of the House of Representatives and was chairman of the Railroad Committee at a critical time in our disastrous railroad history, and he presided over the House during the time when the New Haven monopoly got its foothold in this State.

He erred grievously, but honestly, in his acquiescence in a large part of this Wall Street raid on our New England prosperity, but nobody ever accused him of being under any undue influence of the railroad; and when Governor Draper recommended that the Boston Railroad Holding Company securities be made a savings bank investment, Mr. Walker led the opposition to that outrageous scheme, which would have jeopardized our savings banks and the savings of thousands of prudent people in this State.

Mr. Walker had the fault of too many of our honest conservatives. He presumed too much honesty and intelligence on the part of men in high financial circles. The scales had not fallen from his eyes. He thought that the word of a railroad president, solemnly uttered, was reliable. He thought that J. P. Morgan, with his contributions to churches and colleges, was a public-spirited man and not a modern type of pirate.

Mr. Walker and others of his type now understand the folly of the dilatory regulation of forces too powerful and too persistently irremediable to be regulated.

A great railroad in politics is more powerful than the world-beating army, just as a small, disciplined army is more powerful than ten times its number in a mob, and for exactly the same reason. A railroad corporation with its lawyers and lobbyists and unlimited money, and its secret arrangements with politicians, and its influence over bankers who want to sell its stocks and bonds, and the influence of the bankers over business men who want to borrow money from the banks, and politicians who want campaign expenses, and newspapers who want advertising and who want the railroad to buy the newspaper bonds when they are hard up, as the New Haven bought the bonds of the Boston Herald, all these sources of power in the hands of men whose profession it is to utilize them with the highest degree of efficiency, makes the railroad a disciplined standing army against whose aggressions the unorganized citizenry can offer but little effective resistance.

Mr. Walker and the Progressive party of Massachusetts are fundamentally right on this public ownership question. The AMERICAN hopes that they will not cease to agitate it and that the citizens of Massachusetts will not cease to respect and to reward with their support the Progressive party so long as it continues so true to the interests of the State and to the line of progress.

State Treasurer Mansfield Has Made a Record by Heading in the Right Direction

Frederick W. Mansfield, State Treasurer, has demonstrated during his year in office that the opportunities of this office are greater than they have seemed from the practice of past years. He has proved that more can be done for the public interest than merely perfecting an efficient office routine.

In the years to come the business of selling stocks and bonds of the quasi-public corporations and of the government will be assumed directly by the government or by the Public Service Corporation which issues these stocks and bonds, WITHOUT THE INTERVENTION OF ANY MIDDLEMEN.

One of the great causes of the increasing cost of living is the astonishing margin between the price which the producer receives and the price which the consumer is obliged to pay for our products, whether they be stocks or bonds, or meat or corn or milk. The middlemen are getting more and more the lion's share and the problem of reducing the cost of distribution by reducing the number of middlemen who share in the profits, is one of the great problems of reducing the cost of living.

Mr. Mansfield made a notable experiment this year when he undertook successfully to have the State itself market the State bonds and not sell them to a group of bankers, who in turn would sell them to the public for a considerable profit. It was a long step in the right direction and ought to be remembered in Mr. Mansfield's favor by the citizens of the State when they vote next Tuesday.